

Cookie Policy

Effective Date: July 15, 2018

On our website, we use cookies that improve the usability of our website and enable the use of certain features. These are small files that your browser automatically creates and that are stored on your device (laptop, tablet, smartphone, etc.) when you visit our website. Cookies do not harm your computer and do not contain viruses. To learn more, visit www.allaboutcookies.org/ or www.youronlinechoices.eu/. These pages also explain how you can manage and delete cookies. We use cookies:

- To recognize new or past customers,
- To improve our website,
- To serve you with interest-based or targeted advertising (see below for more on interest-based advertising),
- To observe your behaviours and browsing activities over time across multiple websites or other platforms,
- To better understand the interests of our customers and our website visitors.

For example, we use so-called session cookies to recognise that you have already visited individual pages on our website. These are automatically deleted after leaving our page. In addition, to improve usability, we also use temporary cookies that are stored on your device for a specified period of time.

If you visit our site again to take advantage of our services, it automatically recognises that you have already been with us and what inputs and settings you have made in order not to have to re-enter them.

On the other hand, we use cookies to statistically record the use of our website and to evaluate it for the purpose of optimising our offer.

The data processed by cookies are required for the purposes stated to protect our legitimate interests and the third party pursuant to Art. 6 para. 1 sentence 1 lit. f) GDPR.

The analysis of your surfing behaviour is usually anonymous; the surfing behaviour can't be traced back to you. You can object to this analysis or prevent it by not using certain tools.

Note: you can configure your browser so that no cookies are stored on your computer or that there will always be a notification that appears before a new cookie is created. However, disabling cookies completely may mean that you cannot use all features of our website. Certain browsers can be set to reject browser cookies.
